About the claims reporting period

Three years of claims experience is included in your premium calculation. The first year that a claim is premium impacting, only weekly payments (and lump sum death payments if applicable) are included in the calculation.

For the second and third years that a claim is premium impacting, all actual paid costs (weekly payments and medical and like expenses) and the statistical case estimates are included in the calculation.

Note: any provisional payments made to workers to support mental health are not included in an employer's premium calculation.
